

Sussex Safeguarding Adults Policy and Procedures website: updated safeguarding and quality chapter

As part of ongoing work being undertaken by the three Sussex Safeguarding Adults Boards and statutory partners to continually develop and review the online Sussex Safeguarding Policy and Procedures, the chapter on quality and safeguarding has recently been updated.

The quality and safeguarding chapter considers the interface between quality of care and safeguarding in health and social care settings. It explains where responsibilities for care and support services sit (including the role of the CQC), when safeguarding concerns should be raised in relation to quality issues, and provides guidance on responding to organisational abuse.

The newly updated chapter contains increased detail on where roles and responsibilities for care and support services sit, further information on quality monitoring arrangements, new sections on both responsibility for quality and organisational risk, as well as links to other guidance and Sussex Safeguarding Adults Boards Protocols.
